Because your move is more than just a change of address

A Success Story

For custom cable assembler Casco Manufacturing, it is important to follow a specific process in their work—a process that includes inspection, testing, auditing and monitoring to insure that work is 100% defect-free.

Casco Manufacturing Co.

The company is a Woman Owned Business and ISO Certified, so they adhere to the highest standards of performance. When the company decided to move from their old location to a larger one to accommodate growth and opportunity, Marty James, President of Casco, said “we were looking for a way to relocate our company that would ensure the move would go without a hitch—just like we perform for our customers”.

Casco needed space for additional management offices, as well as more production and storage space. They also needed a relocation solution that could address the details of the move without disrupting their operations. They wanted to be able to hit the ground running the first business day after the “big event” because business disruption is a costly problem they wanted to avoid.

Among Casco’s particular challenges were that they had to move very large equipment, some 8 feet by 12 feet by 5 feet, as well as 22-foot high custom storage racks. After attending an informative and interactive seminar, Marty was convinced that the Compleat Move^(sm) was Casco's best chance for a seamless, smooth and problem-free relocation.

The Compleat Move^(sm) in Action

The Compleat Move^(sm) partnership of four complementary companies managed the Casco Manufacturing business relocation down to the smallest detail so that everything happened on time, on budget and with minimal interruption. The Compleat Move^(sm) partners provided Marty with a well-informed and detailed plan prior to the move. It included a step-by-step timeline to make sure everything would go according to plan and result in a successful move. According to Marty, "The Compleat Move^(sm) partners did a superior job of coordinating with Casco's General Contractor, and each other, ensuring that our project was flawlessly executed".

"It's never too early to plan your move and having partners who work well together is an invaluable benefit", says Marty. "The Compleat Move^(sm) partner, Morgan Realty Partners, worked diligently to find the right location for us. Business Office Systems (BOS) did the office design, provided new furnishings and re-furnished some existing pieces. We were able to make use of what we had on-hand and add to it in a way that resulted in a unified, updated look. That saved us money and resources."

Medlin Communications provided all of the low-voltage electrical work. They installed the phone system and met Casco security needs. Medlin also installed a Card Access system for security and prepared the technical infrastructure for the future addition of security cameras when Casco is ready. Midwest Moving performed the physical move. Their experience and support met Casco's toughest challenges for moving large scale equipment, as well as their other office assets.

The result? Casco Manufacturing was "business ready" on day one in their new location.
